Tuesday Registration
Day For County Voters

Citizens of the townships and boroughs of Lawrence County get their second opportunity to register on Tuesday, July 6, when registrars will sit in every one of the 58 rural precincts all day to register voters.

This is the second day allotted by the county commissioners for registration. The first day was June 29, when less than 2200 registered. The last day when registrars will sit at the polls will be August 10. After that rural voters can register only by applying at the registration offices in the court house.

Some effort will be made to get out the voters on Tuesday it was said today. Leaders of the Democratic party will have automobiles operating through the country in an effort to get out as many as possible.

Starting Pymatuning Season

VIEW OF PYMATUNING LAKE AS FISHING SEASON OPENED

Thousands of fish in one lake—and not one heretofore teased by a fisherman! No wonder Pymatuning lake is the new fishermen's paradise of the East. And don't think fishermen aren't aware of the piscatorial pleasures of the spot, for 7,000 rods and reels the first day. The lake, which has a 77-mile shoreline, once was a vast swamp. After years of planning, the state of Pennsylvania built a 2,700-foot dam at the southern end. The lake covers an area of nearly 20,000 acres, containing 60,000,000,000 gallons of water.

Report Negotiations
Under Way To Pass
Up Court LegislationBy WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Administration leaders and spokesmen for the opposition to President Roosevelt's supreme court bill were reported today to be secretly negotiating a senate compromise, calling for abandonment of all legislation and submission to the people of a constitutional amendment on the issue.

The constitutional amendment reported under discussion would provide for compulsory retirement of federal judges at the age of 75 years. It would limit such retirement of supreme court justices, however, the one in any calendar year, in order to eliminate any charge the proposal contemplated a "packing" of the high tribunal.

This startling development was partially confirmed by two high administration Democrats, who declared they would "not be surprised" if the pending controversy were settled suddenly by agreement on a constitutional amendment. One of the senators would further forecast the compulsory retirement amendment as the potential compromise.

Opposition leaders strengthened the possibility of compromise when almost without exception they demanded the issue be submitted to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment. This came after senate majority leader Robinson of Arkansas, introduced a compromise bill, drafted by Senators Hatch (D) of New Mexico, Logan (D) of Kentucky, and Ashurst (D) of Arizona, authorizing appointment of one new justice each year for each sitting justice over 75 years of age.

ARE NOW WORKING

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 3.—Tension subsided today as police officials declared they saw no cause for alarm in the scheduled mass meeting here tomorrow of 40,000 union coal miners to whip up sentiment for the Bethlehem Steel strike.

Sydney D. Evans, representing the Bethlehem Steel management, announced normal operations were in effect in virtually all departments of the plant which employs 15,000 men despite the CIO strike. Only about 1500 employees were not at work, he explained, chiefly in departments requiring large supplies of water which it has been impossible to obtain as a result of the recent mysterious dynamiting of the water mains.

Estimate 12,000 At Work.

In support of this statement, observers said the largest complement of men to enter the strike-bound plant since the walkout was called three weeks ago paraded into the mills in a steady stream last night and today. Estimates placed the figure at more than 12,000.

Strike sympathizers appeared at five registration centers where petitions are being signed by striking miners of the Industrial Collieries corporation, Bethlehem subsidiary, requesting the company to reopen its "captive" mines. More than 400 (Continued On Page Two)

Police Broadcast Descriptions Of Suspect Now Being Sought

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, July 3.—The three murdered Inglewood babes lie buried and at rest, but search for their fiendish killer widened over the entire western half of the United States today as officers pressed one of the greatest manhunts in history.

Bluntly announcing they were seeking a quarter-breed Cherokee Indian, formerly a resident of Salt Lake City, police sent his description over teletype wires in the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain regions.

They said his picture had been identified by witnesses as being that of the man known as "Eddie the Sailor," the man who is thought to have stepped into the role of a "mad" Piper and lured the three little girls to lonely Baldwin Hills where he attacked and garroted them.

Announcement of the new suspect in the case followed closely the funeral services held for two of the little victims in Inglewood, Cal.

Attended by their weeping parents and moist-eyed friends, the bodies of Melba Everett, 8, and her sister Madeline, 7, were laid to rest near the body of the third victim, Jeanette Stephens, 8.

The tiny bodies, outraged and strangled with pieces of rope, were found in the hills by Boy Scouts who had been searching for them after they had been missing two days.

At a routine inquest held yesterday a coroner's jury decided the girls had "met death through strangulation by a person or persons unknown."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 3.—A spectacular strike which tied up trucks, forced taxicabs off the streets, caused the suspension of Philadelphia newspapers and threatened to paralyze industry in this city of 2,000,000 population was settled today in the mayor's office under dramatic circumstances.

The suddenly called strike was termed a "general holiday." In reality it was the climax to a bitter factional struggle between William Green's American Federation of Labor for jurisdiction over 25,000 truck drivers, the Joint Teamsters Council No. 53, an A. F. of L. affiliate, staged the strike in protest against CIO invasion of the trucking field.

A "status quo" agreement, with the intra-labor warfare to be fought out by ballots, brought the potentially dangerous "holiday" to an end.

Under the agreement, employees of two large baking companies will designate by their own votes whether the CIO or the A. F. of L. will represent them for collective bargaining purposes. Recognition of the CIO by these companies resulted in the mass protest holiday of the A. F. of L.

Uncertainty In City.

For hours—throughout the night and early this morning—a feeling of uncertainty and anxiety prevailed in Philadelphia. All trucking operations ceased. Editions of the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Record, morning publications, failed to reach the news stands this morning, although both newspapers printed limited editions before temporarily suspending publication.

The strike was threatening to ruin perishable products lying in warehouses. (Continued On Page Two)

Non-Intervention
Plan Breaks Down

Emergency Meeting Of Britain's Cabinet Is Called For Monday

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 3.—An emergency meeting of Britain's cabinet was called for Monday and three British battleships prepared to reinforce this nation's Mediterranean fleet today following virtual breakdown of Europe's Spanish non-intervention scheme.

The battleships Royal Oak, War Spite and Malaya will reach Mediterranean waters shortly it was revealed.

Those plans were made after the non-intervention impasse opened up possibilities which European chancelleries fear might lead to warlike incidents in the Mediterranean.

The non-intervention scheme—originally devised to keep Spain's civil war from spreading through Europe—appeared to be all but in the grave following a clash at a subcommittee meeting here between Britain and France on one hand and the dictator powers on the other.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The vast reaches of the South Pacific Ocean today shrouded the fate of one of the world's great fliers Amelia Earhart, and her competent navigator, Captain Fred Noonan, downed by fuel exhaustion as they neared Howland Island on their round-the-world flight.

Whether the noted couple met the same fate as Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith did off the coast of Siam in November, 1935, was a matter of conjecture, but search pressed on for the air queen's plane.

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—Amelia Earhart's voice came crackling over the Pacific today from her big airship drifting helplessly in mid-Pacific.

The voice was heard by a Los Angeles amateur radio operator.

"S. O. S. KHAQQ... KHAQQ..." she repeated. The rest of the message, probably giving her position, faded away.

The message was picked up here by Walter McMenamy, an amateur operator. It was the same message received earlier in dot-dash form by McMenamy and other radio operators on the west coast.

PROBE CHICAGO TRAIN CRASH

Many Injured As Trains Meet

Rear End Collision Takes Place At Suburban Station At Evanston

TRAINS FILLED WITH PASSENGERS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 3—Police and North Western Railway officials today opened an investigation into a rear end collision between two holiday sections of the North Western's Ashland limited last night in which 113 passengers and members of the train crews were injured.

Thirty-two of the injured required hospital treatment, but only two of these, a cook and a chef on the diner of the second section, were in serious condition, from burns.

Second Section Hit First
The second section of the train, with brakes screaming, slid into the rear of the first train when it stopped to take on passengers at the Evanston street station in suburban Evanston.

Witnesses said the train had slowed to a speed under ten miles an hour when the locomotive plowed into the rear lounge car, partly crushing it.

Both trains were filled with passengers bound for a holiday stay at Wisconsin resort points. Passengers were thrown from their seats by the impact of the crash, and screams of women and children mingled with shattering of windows. Most of the injured were in the second train.

Summoned by police radio, 20 ambulances and 45 physicians hurried to the station and first aid stations were set up on the platform where most of the injured were treated for cuts and bruises.

According to a statement issued by B. E. Terping, general superintendent of the railway, the second section was believed to have passed through an automatic stop signal.

houses and valued at $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. The pre-holiday business of the city's taxicabs was completely halted. All trucks and horse-drawn vehicles carrying overland freight such as newspapers, laundry, foodstuffs and general merchandising were stopped. An 11th-hour exception was in the case of milk and bread deliveries.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson jumped into the situation immediately after the strike had been called at 2 p. m. yesterday. He spent the night conferring with leaders of both unions and publishers of the city's newspapers. Shortly before 5 o'clock this morning he emerged from his office, tired and haggard and announced:

Strike Settled.
"The strike has been settled." While striving to bring about a settlement, Mayor Wilson deplored "breach of contract," and ordered all police to stay on duty. He declared he would swear in 10,000 citizens, if necessary, to keep things moving.

The immediate cause of the strike was the signing of a contract by the Frehofer Baking company, one of the largest in the world, and the Ward Baking company with the CIO after their contracts with the A. F. of L. had expired.

"I consider it my duty as mayor to enforce all contracts between employers and any union," said Mayor Wilson. "I will use the full power of my office to prevent any violation of an agreement between a union and an employer. Where there is a contract, I will enforce it with every policeman in the city."

The mayor added he would swear in 10,000 men to help the police, if necessary.

"There is no justification for destroying property and interfering with the lawful operation of contracts," Mayor Wilson continued.

Fed Up On Illegal Strikes.
"The people of the United States and of Philadelphia are fed up on illegal strikes and methods used by certain labor leaders and groups."

"I feel that labor generally is not in sympathy with this. It only reacts against labor."

"This is a showdown between orderly government and unlawful, illegal methods used by certain people under the guise of labor. It is un-American and people generally will not tolerate it."

The strike also affected truck drivers in Camden, N. J., Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., and threatened a similar "lockout" in Norristown, Pa., Reading, Pa., and York, Pa.

It was growing in proportions when settlement was reached in Mayor Wilson's chambers in city hall just before dawn today.

Terms of the settlement were on the basis of an agreement concurred in by the A. F. of L. and the CIO representatives that elections would be held Monday evening in the baking firms involved to determine which labor organization was to represent the employees.

Herbert Syme, formerly general counsel for the mayor's labor board and now an attorney for the CIO, told both sides have agreed on the election. If the A. F. of L. wins the election in both the Frehofer and Ward companies, the CIO will withdraw from the baking field. Not only that but the CIO will declare its present contract with the General Baking company void so it can step out of the picture.

"If the CIO wins in the Frehofer and Ward plants, however, then the A. F. of L. must withdraw from these companies. If the CIO wins in one plant and the A. F. of L. in another each union will retain jurisdiction over the plant in which they get the winning vote."

Future jurisdictional differences between the A. F. of L. are to be settled by arbitration, although the machinery for such arbitration has not yet been set up."

"The whole thing is a joke," Mayor Daniel J. Shields commented, "If they want to come, let them come. The restaurants and other business houses will be glad to serve them."

Shields dismissed as "just another crank letter" a missive threatening harm to his children. He revealed he had received new threats against James Mark, veteran mine union leader, directing the strike, and C. W. Jones, an official of the railroad brotherhood on strike on the Bethlehem subsidiary railroad. Shields has publicly warned the men to leave town.

Golden Makes Charges.
Pittsburgh, July 3.—Charges that professional strikebreakers are being imported into Johnstown were made today by Clinton S. Golden, CIO regional director for the steel workers organizing committee.

At the same time it was announced that the address of Philip Murray, SWOC chairman, at a rally of miners and strike sympathizers at Faith Grove near Johnstown tomorrow will be broadcast over a four-station hookup.

Golden asserted he was in possession of "authentic information indicating the recruiting and shipment of professional strikebreakers to Johnstown, Pa., by the Burns detective agency of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh."

Golden also said he had evidence "that other agencies were recruiting and shipping strikebreakers from points in southern Ohio and West Virginia in violation of the Byrnes act prohibiting the interstate shipment of strikebreakers."

The CIO leader said he was turning the information over "to appropriate government agencies for investigation."

RESCUERS HUNT TRACE OF AMELIA'S LARGE PLANE

Miss Earhart on other flights, and I know it was her voice," McMenamy said.

Only Get Call Letters
The verbal message was received here at 5:30 a. m. (PST) he said. As with the dot-dash message nothing could be made out except the distress signal and the "KHAQQ," the call letters of Miss Earhart's plane.

The famous aviatrix is down near Howland Island, where naval and coast guard ships and planes are making a search. She and her navigator, Capt. Fred Noonan, were forced down after taking off from New Guinea on a leg of their round-the-world flight.

Exact Location Uncertain
San Francisco, July 3.—The last radio messages from Amelia Earhart's plane before she was forced down in mid-Pacific failed to indicate her exact position. Captain Stanley Parker of the coast guard here explained today how the cutter Itasca has limited the area of search.

"I received a message from the Itasca stating that contact with Miss Earhart's plane was made at 7:42 a. m. (Howland time, 3:42 p. m. E. D. T.), reporting that she had a half hour's fuel supply left and had no landfall."

"Her message then gave the figures 646, which would indicate, possibly, that she was 100 miles from the Itasca. However, no relative bearings were given."

Naval Bombers in Hunt
Honolulu, July 3.—Nine naval bombers were ordered into the air from Ford Harbor naval base today to join the search for Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Capt. Fred Noonan, believed adrift on the Pacific somewhere near the dreary, treeless Howland Island.

The fleet of seaplanes were ordered to join the U. S. coast guard cutter Itasca in a desperate search by sea and air for the missing flyers, forced down by lack of fuel yesterday on a 2570-mile flight from Lea, New Guinea. When trouble overtook them Miss Earhart and her navigator were attempting the longest and most treacherous phase of their round-the-world flight in the famous woman flyer's $80,000 "flying laboratory," a Lockheed Electra low wing monoplane.

Fears for their safety increased hourly as the deadline for the exhaustion of their fuel was long passed and no word reached civilization from their silent radio. At one a. m. (P. S. T.) today the two flyers had been missing and unaccounted for for 12 hours.

Message Reported
San Francisco, July 3.—Spurred by faint radio signals, indicating that Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, are alive, navy planes joined coast guard cutters today in the search for the globe-girdling plane, drifting in mid-Pacific.

Long hours of dread silence, which jealously guarded the fate of the famed aviatrix and her navigator, were shattered just before midnight when a British man-of-war reported receiving a message from the drifting plane.

"Down but radio working," was the message flashed from the plane. "Give us a few dots and dashes if you get us," the message added. It was signed with the call letters of Miss Earhart's plane, KGAQQ.

The British man-of-war, Achilles, 600 miles south of the equator, near Solomon Islands, flashed the message to the mainland, via Honolulu.

The Achilles reported it picked up the message at 11:28 p. m. (PST). The U. S. Shafter army radio station at Honolulu reported it heard faint signals at the same hour and believed they were from the $80,000 flying laboratory of America's first lady of the air.

Voters who are not registered on or before September 1, will find themselves unable to vote on September 14.

RUSSO-JAPANESE CRISIS SETTLED

that we could conduct negotiations peacefully.

"Litvinov promised to give orders for the withdrawals by 9 p. m. yesterday. I think now that the question is settled."

"It remains to be seen now whether the order was given immediately and effectively. Japan will be quite satisfied if this is carried out. Then Manchukuo can watch its population return to the area from which they were expelled by force by the Soviets."

But I think they can now return and I consider the question completely settled."

Sidestep War
Orders for withdrawal of the Soviet armed patrols from the Amur river islands were issued early today by the war commissariat, and diplomatic circles here generally agreed with Shigemitsu's statement.

By issuing the withdrawal orders, the Soviet government sidestepped the possibility of war with Japanese-Manchukuoan forces in the gravest situation the Far Eastern powers have faced for many years—possibly since the Russo-Japanese war 32 years ago.

The scare was provoked by an engagement in the Amur river in which Japanese artillery sank one Russian gunboat with loss of life, crippled another and forced a third to flee.

The tension was dissipated as suddenly as it arose by Ambassador Shigemitsu's formal announcement: "Negotiations between Japan and Russia were peacefully concluded."

Rumor Soviet Forces Mutiny

Report Is Distributed By Japanese Agency And Is Unconfirmed

(International News Service)
TOKYO, July 3.—Unconfirmed reports reached here today that Soviet frontier forces mutinied at Taping-Hou, razing neighboring villages and massacring residents.

The reports, which were distributed by a Japanese agency, claimed the mutiny was spreading to remote localities where inhabitants were said to be "displaced" by recent internal strife in the U. S. S. R.

According to the advices, which were not supported by any other source, the Soviet far eastern army is "profoundly shaken" as a result of Dictator Josef Stalin's recent purge of high military authorities.

Distribution of the reports followed withdrawal of Soviet troops from the Amur river region between Siberia and Manchukuo, and apparent settlement of the Japanese-Soviet crisis there.

GARDEN PILGRIMAGE TO COOKS FOREST

It was the consensus of opinion among sixteen members of the Lawrence County Garden club that the two day pilgrimage up through the mountain foot-hills to Cooks Forest, Thursday and Friday, was one of the most outstanding programs ever planned for the group.

Leaving New Castle Thursday morning, the motor caravan went by way of Kittanning to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Howe in the vicinity of Cooks Forest, and there they had an appetizing luncheon.

After lunch, a 90 mile drive through winding hemlock bordered roads of the forest, was enjoyed, the naturalists enraptured with the scenery which is particularly beautiful at this time of year, with masses of mountain laurel and rhododendron in full blooming glory.

In a special section of just laurel, and they were thrilled to glimpse and see at close range, wildlife in native habitats. There were pheasants and their broods, porcupines, woodcocks and other varieties and as a climax to this delightful opportunity for nature study, the group even saw a deer which was in the middle of the road, in front of the lead car driven by Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood.

Another interesting site in the forest was a big tree which has grown out of the ground in a single trunk, branches into two trunks a little further up, and again joins into the single trunk.

The trail into the woods was taken before supper at the farm house, and many species of wild flora were viewed. Yesterday morning, before breakfast, and again in the afternoon Elizabeth Howled the Garden club members through still other most interesting territory and several pictures were taken. The pilgrims returned to New Castle Friday evening, stopping at Bradys Bend for the time view there. While away, they enjoyed clear weather, even though they left here in the rain, there were not any mishaps, and everybody had a wonderful time, instructive as well as interesting.

The party consisted of Mrs. B. F. Kannenberg, president, Lawrence County Garden club, Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. E. W. Greiner, Mrs. Russell Allen, Mrs. Allan Ingals, Mrs. Charles Burkart, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Thacker, son Ben Thacker, Mrs. W. C. Mechem, Mrs. C. S. Royce, Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood, Mrs. A. W. Urmon, Mrs. Russell Urmon, Mrs. Thomas A. Clark, Mrs. W. W. Howe, whose farm was the stopping place for the group.

JULY FOURTH

STURDY old John Adams, writing to his wife following the action of the continental congress in declaring the colonies independent of English rule, envisioned the character which the celebration of the event would assume in later years.

"I am apt to believe," he said, "that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to Almighty God. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illumination from one end of this country to the other, from this time forward forevermore."

And, in fact, the celebration of the birth of the nation's independence did take on exactly that character. For many years the day was filled with exciting events and the minds of the people dwelt upon the greatness, the patriotism and the courage of those men who had built the new nation.

But with the passing of years came changes in customs, and the manner in which the anniversary of the nation's birth is observed has changed accordingly. Municipalities, seeking to safeguard the lives of their children, have banned fireworks, unless under official auspices. Exhausted treasuries have in many instances made it impossible to hire bands, hold public celebrations and present brilliant pyrotechnic displays at night.

In fact, the observance of Independence Day has become rather subdued, in keeping, perhaps, with the spirit of the people after four years of bitter trial and struggle, and in many instances there is nothing on the day's program other than an automobile ride out into the country—no noise, no din, music and games, guns, bells bonfires or other illuminations.

But perhaps the old patriot, Mr. Adams, would not be keenly disappointed at the change if he could but peer beneath externals and observe that the spirit, which, after all, is the vital thing, is essentially the same as that which found expression more than a century and a half ago in a forthright demand for freedom.

ZAHAROFF'S PEARL

It seems rather paradoxical that a formula for peace should have been left as a legacy to a war-weary world by the most able of all the members of the sales force of Mars.

Sir Basil Zaharoff lived his long life in an aura of mystery. Through whim or for more material reasons he guarded against the possibility that after death new light might be cast upon his strange career. All diaries, letters and other records were destroyed and future historians of world affairs have thus lost the material from which a fascinating fabric might have been woven.

During his fifty years as a maker of kings and wars and a mold of European destiny, Zaharoff gave one interview, in the course of which he said: "I, Zaharoff, say that peace is a psychological condition. Let enough people talk peace, think peace and dream peace, and there will be peace on earth."

Perhaps, in these few words, the king of munitions salesmen has charted the path to the achievement of a great ideal. When the demand of the masses is overwhelming, the leaders of government, who are influenced largely by instincts of self-preservation, usually trim their sails to catch the wind.

INTO THE SUB-STRATOSPHERE

The General Electric Company's aeronautical engineers who are now turning over to Army Air Corps experts at Dayton, Ohio, the specially built airplane with which they have experimented successfully in the sub-stratosphere have added their commendation to this kind of flying to similar favorable prophecies expressed by experts.

Lieutenant M. J. Adam, of the British Royal Air Force, has just set a new airplane altitude record by rising 53,937 feet—but he had to wear a special rubber suit and air helmet. Engineers are more concerned at the moment with transporting normally-clad passengers in pay loads at half that height. With variable pitch propellers and efficient superchargers now perfected, it is interesting to note that five men in the latest test flights were comfortable five and one-half miles above the earth in a sealed cabin kept at seventy-eight degrees despite the ten-below-zero weather outside.

Experiments in such high-altitude flying, now being pushed at every hand seem unvaryingly successful and revealing promising speed and independence of weather conditions which already dare aerial pioneers.

ENERGY FROM THE SUN

At the Chicago world's fair in 1893 people studied the newest thing in mechanical science and wondered what the long-haired professors would think of next. They were looking at the horseless carriage little suspecting that it would revolutionize industry and literally change our way of life.

At the Cleveland Exposition this year another interesting gadget is on display. To the layman strolling by it is just something that somebody thought up. This device is Dr. Charles G. Abbot's solar boiler, a machine which converts the sun's rays into useful energy.

Dr. Abbot, who is secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, described his sun boiler to a small group of Cleveland scientists and business men who were guests.

The sun boiler is not something which Dr. Abbot thought up for the exposition, but something on which he has been working 15 years. Its principle is simple. A mirror catches the sun's rays and concentrates them on a tube of distilled water. This produces steam, just as a magnifying glass between the sun and a piece of wood will produce fire.

The potential value of such a machine? Enough sunshine falls over New Mexico or Arizona to produce many times the power consumed by all America. Capturing sunshine for large scale power production is an engineering problem still to be worked out, but Dr. Abbot has about completed the scientific groundwork necessary.

It requires a little stretching of the imagination, but not much, to see another industrial revolution in this simple device exhibited at the exposition. Today our energy needs are supplied from selected spots of the earth, coal fields, waterfalls, etc. Is the day near when we can take the from the clear blue sky over any spot on earth?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TINY TOT WON'T EAT

"Dear Dr. Myers: Find enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope, for which please send me advice on getting a child to eat. My granddaughter, three and one-half years old, has to be forced to eat her meals—everything but fruit, of which she is very fond. It is perfect misery every meal time to watch her parents force her to eat, and it spoils everybody else's enjoyment of the meal."

My answer: I wonder if you have thought of the misery which the little child must bear. I am very glad, indeed, to offer advice for the parents of your little granddaughter, though I am not at all sure they will choose to follow it.

Quit forcing her to eat. Do not feed her at all. Let her feed herself. Place before her a very, very small portion of the one most essential food for her meal, with a spoon beside it, but no liquid for her to play with and nothing else. If she refuses the food, remove it, say nothing and show no concern. Let her get down. In the event that she is enraged by having the food placed before her, do not have her seated at a table. Place the food on a low table or chair and call it to her attention by a sound of the spoon on the dish. Then she can go to the food or not, as she likes.

Give No Other Food. In either event, after she has refused one food, let her have no other until the next meal time. Let her eat what is offered her or nothing. At the next meal proceed in like fashion. It might be well not to offer her any food at all for a meal or two, until she has begged hard and long for it. Remember, very small helpings, only one food at a time.

If, however, she eats the very small amount of food placed before her, put on her plate a small portion of the next essential food and let her choose. In case she refuses to have her meal end there. But never feed her. Never ask her to eat. Say not a word about food or eating. And be sure she gets no other food before the next meal. If she holds out for more than two or three successive meals, consult with your physician.

Very important that no one should say a word about the child's eating, nor show the slightest emotion by the way they talk, breathe or look. Let them busy themselves with another topic of conversation. There would be very few eating problems with children if adults of the family were to manage their own emotions.

All Of Us

CHILDREN ARE HUMAN

There are times when even the most reasonable of fathers and mothers have serious doubts about their children.

All theoretical deductions point to the assumption that they are human, but practical observation suggests very strongly that they are NOT.

I thought considerably on this matter and have at length decided that children ARE human, even when their actions seem to prove that they aren't.

After all, WE are human beings aren't we? Assuming or accepting that fact, then our children must be human beings, too. Born of us, they are our species. Even when they are soft little infants, they belong to the human race. They smile, they laugh, they think, they grow—we KNOW that eventually they will turn into adult human creatures. We detect traits and tendencies in them that could have been inherited only from their parents.

In a few years they grow old enough to go to school. They do quite well and we are proud of their intelligence. We treat them as reasonable individuals and are glad to be responsible for their being alive. No matter what is in store for them, of ecstasy or grief, we have done our obligation toward the race.

But when they grow into their teens, into that curious and tortured period called adolescence, that's when their bewildered parents begin to doubt whether children are or are not human beings. Sometimes they use the word "brats" (They must do that or how could they stay in school?) But so much of the time they seem to be using their brains only to bolster up their desires and emotions. (And many a parent has worn himself ragged trying to convince his bright adolescent child that what he WANTS to do is exactly the opposite of what he OUGHT to do.) The persistent youngster may be human but he is far from being civilized, and he gets father and mother into a state of mind where they can't believe he IS a human being.

Nevertheless my exhaustive research gives me encouragement. I have seen boys and girls who drove their parents crazy with worry turn into acceptable, delightful and useful adults—and since I know that something never comes out of nothing I believe that children ARE human. . . . Take my word for it, that's the truth.

Hints On Etiquette

To help children acquire poise, they should be encouraged to join in dinner conversation, and their remarks should be listened to.

Both sides say they are fighting for Spain, which reminds us of what once happened to a shirt when two college boys were fighting for it.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
An official of the Rockefeller Institute states that, among hundreds of letters of denunciation received by the institution during the past year, one was from a man in Arkansas who took the view that all this modern education is dangerous and that the new-fangled practice of grounding preachers in Latin and Greek is especially pernicious. They ought to be taught English, he said, and added in conclusion: "If English was good enough for Jesus, it's good enough for me."

FORMALITY
The young man who had been calling on Eloise came at last to see her father with a letter. "It's a mere formality, I know, but we thought it would be pleasing to you if you were observed in the usual way."

Her father inquired who suggested that asking my consent to Eloise's marriage was a mere formality?

"Yes," replied the young man. "It was Eloise's mother."

CHANGED HIS MIND
A recruit of two months service was rushed to France with one of the first outfits overseas. As his company approached the lines he suddenly appeared before his commanding officer under the impression he would resign by simply making a proper application.

"Why did you join the army?" the captain asked.

"When I heard what the Germans did to Belgium, I got mad and enlisted."

"Then why do you want a discharge?"

"Since I heard those big guns last night, I've decided I ain't as mad as I thought I was!"

It seems that one of the privates

The present Washington trend toward curtailment of direct and work relief expenditures does not result from a congressional desire to achieve economics at recovery's expense. Rather, it follows the appearance of an ally in the spending war against depression. That ally, coming from what many in Capitol Hill consider an unexpected quarter, is Big Business.

Many of our legislators now believe the lion's share of spending should be left to their new-found ally. For Big Business is spending at a rate this country has not seen since 1930. This is demonstrably true in the railroad industry, whose purchases during the first quarter of 1937 are up 100 per cent over the same period of 1936, and 200 per cent over 1935. The number of freight cars ordered during January, February and March totals of 1937, 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935.

This is the kind of spending that produces re-employment. That kind of spending will get us somewhere on our way out of the depression.

Answer—By all means, place your pictures along the top of the bookshelf, as shown in the sketch above. This is an excellent method of showing any interesting prints which you may have. Place them one beside the other as indicated.

Dear Miss Markel—I have a few etchings which I wish to frame and hang. Each has a wide, white margin completely surrounding it. Should this be cut off or left intact? E. F.

Answer—Both etchings and engravings must always have their margins left on as these add to their value. They look best when framed in a narrow black frame or black with a narrow gold or silver line on the inside.

The World At A Glance

Rising Prices Discussed.
Two Views Are Presented.
See Weakness Leading To Drop.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist
WHAT TREND FOR PRICES?

Here are two expert projections into the near future—take your pick. They do not agree, as you can see.

The first is by Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, Princeton's famous conservative economist. He says: "Among the powerful inflationary forces now pushing prices upward, taking up the cheap money slack already created and in some cases creating more slack to be taken up, are the following which will be recognized as not entirely distinct but in some cases involve a certain amount of overlapping:

(1) The devalued gold dollar and resulting inflow of gold from abroad accompanied with an increase of gold production which low commodity prices have stimulated.

(2) Our silver policy involving, as it does, an enormous expansion in the circulation of silver certificates.

(3) Our heavy government deficits and their financing through borrowing from the banks.

(4) The flow of 'hot money' from abroad into the United States and war-scarred Europe seeking security and profit in the United States.

(5) Our very heavy excess bank reserves, both in commercial banks and in the Federal Reserve banks.

(6) The prospects of rising velocities of bank deposit circulation as business recovers from the depression.

COUNTERACTING FORCES
"Counteracting these inflationary forces there are four important forces. They are:

(1) The expansion of business as we work our way out of the depression which involves an increasing demand for money and bank deposit credit.

(2) The improvement we have been having lately in the budgetary position of the national government which is reducing somewhat the size of our annual deficit.

(3) The recently adopted policy of the Federal Reserve system in providing by administrative action taken under the authority of recent banking legislation for the doubling of legal reserve requirements of banks in the Federal Reserve system.

(4) The recent government action providing for the sterilization of gold imports which prevent newly imported gold from being used as a reserve base for currency and credit expansion.

"The forces making for inflation at the present time appear to be more powerful than the counteracting forces and the prospects are therefore strong that we are facing a substantial period of rising commodity prices which will carry the cost of living to much greater heights than it is today."

ON THE OTHER HAND

Now let us examine a statement by Alexander Hamilton Institute, another economic agency. It says: "There is considerable reason for believing that the weakness which has characterized various commodities

RIGHT SPENDING

We used to hear a great deal about "spending our way out of the depression." That economic theory was very popular just a few short years ago, and the government gave it a practical whirl. While the torrent of government dollars was imperatively necessary in the drouth-stricken valley of American economics, it was soon discovered that a slackening of this flow could not be readily accomplished without again plunging the country into a dust bowl of chaos.

The present Washington trend toward curtailment of direct and work relief expenditures does not result from a congressional desire to achieve economics at recovery's expense. Rather, it follows the appearance of an ally in the spending war against depression. That ally, coming from what many in Capitol Hill consider an unexpected quarter, is Big Business.

GOLFING PARSON
I know a reverend gentleman
At whom I would not scoff
He leaves his flock whenever he can
To play a round of golf.

The playful spirit of noble mind
Who prays for you and me
Takes off his vest that hooks behind
When starting for the tee.

He leaves his robes of somber black
Within the locker room
And wears instead upon his back
Fresh flannel from the loom.

To see him thus in golfing dress
Demanding strokes from me
No stranger in the crowd would guess
A clergyman is he.

He gives no quarter to the foe,
Until the game is done.
The gentleness he bids me show
He seems himself to shun.

Those teachings of the Holy Book
Which are his Sunday school
I'm sure he leaves upon the hook
Where hangs his cleric's cloak.

Sometimes it passes all belief,
As sadly I report,
He who so tender is in grief
So hard can be in sport.

Yet when this clergyman takes off
The raiment of his clan,
You'll find that when it comes to golf
He'll trim you, if you can.

"A New Declaration Of Independence" Subject Of Dr. Irvine's Sermon

ALFRED A. TAYLOR
ARRANGES MUSIC

Dr. S. E. Irvine, of the First United Presbyterian church, will have charge of the union outdoor service at Cascade Park Sunday evening, and Alfred A. Taylor, organist of the church, will be in charge of the music.

This service, one of a series being sponsored during the summer by the New Castle Ministerial Association, will open at 7 o'clock.

Prior to this, at 6:45 o'clock, the brass quartet will give a quarter hour of music, the numbers including softly and tenderly by Thompson, an air from the opera "Waffenschmidt" by Lenzing and My Faith Looks Up To Thee by Mason.

For the offertory Thomas Cramer of the quartet will play "The Holy City" by Stephen Adams, and for the postlude the quartet will be heard in "The Church By The Side Of The Road" by Ackley. Both are request numbers.

The musical part of the service arranged by Mr. Taylor will be in the patriotic vein as Sunday is the Fourth of July. An anthem, "America The Beautiful" by Scott will be sung by the choir and a soprano solo, "America Ode" will be sung by Mrs. Murry Boyd; this number is one of Mr. Taylor's own compositions and has been prepared especially for this Fourth of July.

Dr. Irvine will also follow the patriotic idea and has chosen for the subject of his sermon, "A New Declaration of Independence." Many have heard Dr. Irvine before as he enjoys one of the longest pastorates of any member of the New Castle ministerium; and having heard him only makes one desirous of hearing him again. He is a clear, deep thinker and a good preacher.

The ushers of the First U. P. church will serve. In the event of rain the service will be in the park pavilion.

State Appropriations Of $338,591,086 Are Approved By Earle

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 3.—Slashing $8,514,405 from the total enacted by the 132nd legislature, Gov. George H. Earle, today approved appropriations totaling $338,591,086—largest in the state's history—to run the commonwealth's government for the next two years.

This was in addition to previously approved appropriations totaling some $29,000,000 to provide for deficiencies that occurred during the 1935-37 biennium which ended May 31.

With revenues during the next two years anticipated to reach the $363,139,000 mark, the Earle administration—all things being equal—hopes to end the current biennium with a $642,835 balance in the treasury.

The chief executive early this morning signed some four-score appropriation bills to care for all governmental expenditures and state subsidies, including $132,209,100 for relief for the two years beginning July 1, the legislature having provided nearly $65,000,000 for June before it adjourned, and $8,374,200 for state-aided hospitals.

The general assembly approved appropriations totaling $375,957,847 to provide for running expenses for the coming two years as well as some $23,000,000 in 1935-37 deficiencies, most of which was for relief. From this figure the governor whittled $8,514,405 leaving a total of $367,443,441 approved.

News Briefs From City Hall

Mayor Charles E. McGrath held "police court" for youths who were instructed during the past week to appear before him. They were accused of various offenses, according to reports. However, none of the boys were under arrest on account of their age.

Jack McGonigle reported to police headquarters last night that a man in another automobile had stolen a motorometer from his auto, which McGonigle parked in East street near Apple way.

With the vacation season in effect police in cruiser cars nightly watch homes where there are no occupants. Chief of police Ralph A. Criswell stated today that persons returning from vacations should immediately notify police so that officers would know any persons in such homes belong there.

Police here received a report that L. E. Orner, Altoona, Pa., had lost a suitcase from his auto somewhere between Altoona and Butler. State police were notified of the loss.

Only two arrests were made last night. Both defendants were charged with drunkenness. They will receive a hearing some time today before Mayor Charles E. McGrath.

State Highway Patrolman Fluecker preferred a charge of hit and run against Sam Gilson, Jr., 22 Hutchinson street, before Alderman Ewing today. The latter held Gilson in $500 bail for court.

was reached in 36 months. April of this year represented the 50th month of the advance which began in March, 1933.

"If the tendency toward price weakness which has lately become apparent is an indication that the upward movement has been halted, it does not necessarily mean the beginning of a steady price decline. While such decline occurred after the peak of the post-Civil war rally, the decline from the peak of the rally after the Napoleonic wars was followed by a recovery to a secondary peak before the long-term downward trend of prices was definitely resumed. This secondary peak was reached 58 months after the pre-rally low. A definite resumption of the post-world War long-term downward trend of prices might thus be postponed until the beginning of 1938."

ACCELERATION WANTED

The hillbilly mule balked in the road when the country doctor came past. The hillbilly asked whether the doctor could give something that would start the mule. The doctor gave the animal some powder. The mule switched its tail, tossed its head and started off at a mad gallop. The hillbilly looked first at the flying mule and then at the doctor.

"How much did the medicine cost, doc?"
"Oh, about half a dollar."
"Well, give me a dollar's worth—quick! I've got to catch that mule."

ity markets during the spring means that the upward price movement, which began in March, 1933, has been completed. If this proves to be the case, the testimony favors an extensive price recession in the distant future.

"The movement of prices since the end of the World War up to the present time provides no evidence of a departure from the post-Civil War price pattern which was a duplication of that after the Napoleonic wars. In other words, the long-term price trend at the present time is downward. Only 17 years have elapsed since the price peak in 1920. After the Napoleonic wars, the price trend was downward for about 29 years while, after the Civil War, prices declined for 33 years.

Safety Record Is Recognized

Ten Year Record Of Sub-Station Department Acknowledged With Ceremonies

Employees of the Pennsylvania Power company convened at the Line shop of the company in South street, Friday afternoon, where recognition was given the New Castle substation department for its 10 year safety record.

Not a single lost time accident has occurred during this period in which the department has constructed or remodeled a majority of the substations and has also operated and maintained these substations.

The record is a tribute to the teamwork of the organization whose members for the most part have long and creditable service records with the company.

At the meeting yesterday L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the company, presented the men with tokens of recognition and complimented the entire group on its enviable record.

Several of the men responded with brief remarks on their experiences, including Fred Kaatz, substation superintendent and E. L. Kurtz, operator both of whom have 30 years record; Andy Hunter, substation inspector, who has been with the company 29 years, Chris Thompson, operator, who is retiring after 28 years service and Harry Jones, substation crew foreman who has been with the company 10 years.

T. L. Paden, electrical superintendent, presided at the meeting which was held in the Line Shop.

Exonerate Girl In Child's Death

Coroner's Jury Absolves
Miss Dorothy Abbott In Death Of Marilyn Shiever

CHILD HIT ON
ALBERT STREET

After hearing the testimony of eye-witnesses, a coroner's jury last evening absolved Miss Dorothy Abbott of R. F. D. No. 2, West Washington street, of blame in the death of little Marilyn Jean Shiever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Shiever of Park avenue, who was fatally injured when struck by the car driven by Miss Abbott on Albert street, June 25. The inquest took place before Coroner Orville Potter in the courtroom of Alderman James C. Brice.

Most of the witnesses were WPA employees, employed on the Summer avenue paving project, who stated that the child ran out into the street into the path of the Abbott car. They all stated that Miss Abbott was driving slowly and stopped within a car's length.

Foreman Testifies.
Harry B. Steiner of Euclid avenue, foreman on the Summer avenue project, stated that he was standing near the corner of Albert street and Summer avenue, directing the men in the work, when he happened to glance up and saw the child dart out into the street, running diagonally across Albert street, from the southeast to the northwest corner. Just as she started out, he saw the car driven by Miss Abbott approaching, the child running out in front of the machine and was struck and knocked to the street, almost at the center point of the street intersection.

When the car was brought to a stop, in approximately a car's length, the child was lying face downward in the center of the street, her little body about two feet from the rear of the car, which had passed over her.

He said that the vision of a motorist coming up the street would be obstructed, due to the fact that cars were parked on both sides of Albert street, above and below the street intersection. Most of them belonged to residents on Summer avenue, who were unable to get into their garages, because of the work being done on Summer avenue.

Merritt Kirkwood of 608 Spruce street, employed as tool checker on the Summer avenue paving project, did not see the child struck, but heard a woman scream and as he turned, saw the child under the car. He ran and picked her up and held her, while she was taken to the hospital.

Drove Car To Hospital.
Anthony Nocera of 663 Superior street was about 50 feet away from the spot where the child was struck. He saw her when she was hit, the circumstances being as described by Mr. Steiner. Nocera drove the Abbott car to the Jameson Memorial hospital with the injured child.

Charles Kenney, William Campbell and George Conway, also employed on the paving project, testified similarly to the others who witnessed the accident.

Conway said that the child had walked off a catch-basin, on which she was standing at the southeast corner of the street, and had then started to run across the street. He had seen the car coming up the street prior to the accident and said that it had slowed down before it reached the street intersection.

Dr. David B. Connery stated that he had treated the child in the Jameson Memorial hospital around 4 o'clock on the afternoon of June 25, and that she gave evidence of having her skull fractured, a later diagnosis proving this fact. She died about 10:30 p. m. June 26 of a multiple fracture of the skull, he stated.

Al Kissinger of 651 East Washington street, also employed on the Summer avenue project, told of the circumstances as the child was struck. He had seen both the car and the child before the accident and when the car struck her.

Mother Testifies.
Mrs. Lillian Abbott, mother of Dorothy, stated that they were enroute to the home of her father on Northview avenue in her husband's car. As they approached Summer avenue, she said her daughter blew the horn and slowed up. In an instant the child appeared out in front of the car, being struck by the bumper on the right hand side. She said the car went about a length before her daughter was able to stop it.

Miss Abbott, who stated that she is 18 years of age, was driving her father's car, in which they were enroute to the home of her grandfather. They were going north on Albert street, having turned off Sheridan avenue. She had to stop for a car there and when she started out, put the car in low and then into second gear, in which manner she was driving as they approached Summer avenue. She was going slowly, she stated, as she had been past the spot before and knew men were working there.

Just before she reached the intersection, she said a little boy ran across the street, and she slowed up some, and also blew her horn.

The next thing she knew, she saw the head of the little girl out in front of her car and she swerved the car to the left and applied the brakes. When she recovered from the shock of striking the child, they were on their way to the hospital.

Paul A. Shiever, father of the little child who was struck, stated that they reside at 225 1/2 Park avenue. The little girl was six years old on June 3, he stated. They were visiting at the Merrilees home on Albert street when the accident took place.

Governor Signs 44-Hour Measure

New Labor Law Will Become Effective December 1 In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 5.—One of the most far-reaching labor laws enacted by the 132nd legislature—the 44-hour week measure—which will affect some 3,000,000 wage earners, was written on the statute books today, to become effective December 1.

Gov. George H. Earle signed the measure, sponsored by Sen. Edward R. Frey (D), Allegheny, last night, a similar law pertaining to women and minors only, to become effective September 1, having been approved some time ago.

Few Exemptions
Agricultural workers, domestics in private homes and persons over 21 years of age earning a minimum of $25 weekly "in bona fide executive positions or learned professions" will be exempted from the new law.

Unless exemptions are granted by the State Department of Labor and industry, no employee, according to the Frey law, may work more than eight hours in any single day, or more than five and one-half days in any one week. A half-hour lunch period is mandatory if an employee is to work more than five hours at a time.

Fines ranging from $25 to $200 for each day the law is violated is provided by the law.

Insurgent Warship Bombed By Plane

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 3.—A Spanish government air plane today bombed the bow and sides of the insurgent warship Canarias, off Cape Rosas, but the vessel managed to escape and steamed off toward the Balearic Islands, a Spanish Press agency (loyalist) dispatch said.

A Reuter report from Salamanca quoted an insurgent communique as threatening "due reprisals" for the asserted bombing of Burgos, rebel stronghold, and other rebel centers by government aircraft.

It added the insurgent advance on the Biscay front was continuing toward Santander. A Reuter Santander dispatch said the city, last major stronghold on the Biscay front still in Basque hands, was heavily bombed at six p. m. yesterday.

(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—The Social Security Board's New Castle office will be opened within a week or ten days, the official press officer of the Board said today.

Some days ago the Board reported that it planned to have the New Castle office in operation by the middle of July. Arrangements are coming along satisfactorily, and the Board still hopes to adhere to this program. It is possible, however, the opening may be delayed a day or two or may come a day or two ahead of schedule.

Immediately upon commencing operation, the New Castle office will take over the job of setting up old age assistance accounts and assigning numbers to eligible workers. No information is as yet available as to the personnel that will be maintained at the office.

Loyalists Planes Kill 18 Persons

(International News Service)
HENDAYE, France, July 3.—Renewed loyalist aerial activity was reported today in an insurgent communique broadcast from Salamanca.

The statement charged 18 persons were killed and 21 wounded in a sudden early morning air raid on the rebel stronghold of Burgos.

Other advances from the war zone indicated heavy fighting was in progress on the Madrid front after a considerable lull in that area.

Loyalist reports said insurgent forces "violently but unsuccessfully" attacked government positions along the Morata De Tajuna sector.

There were indications, it was stated, that the rebels are attempting to launch a big offensive on all sectors of the central Spanish front.

Drive Sanely On Independence Day

Motorists Should Obey Motor Laws And Help Prevent Accidents

HIGHWAY PATROL ON DUTY ON ALL ROADS

State highway patrolmen today issued an appeal to the motor-going public to drive sanely Sunday and Monday.

The patrolmen said their force would be distributed on various highways day and night and intrusions of the law of the road would be punishable by arrest.

Every year there is a heavy toll of injured and loss of life throughout the country and the patrolmen stationed here would like to have Lawrence county "go injuryless" Sunday and Monday.

Arrests will result from drivers "cutting in and out," making bad passes, reckless driving and speeding. No one should drive at a speed so slow as to invite accidents.

All Stop signs must be obeyed. Anyone with lights not in proper condition or an antiparticle trouble with officers, likewise drunken drivers.

Everyone who drives a car Sunday or Monday should step into their car with the idea that they will be able to greet their relatives Tuesday without having injured themselves and this may be accomplished by sane driving and obedience to road laws, patrolmen advise.

The highway rate of speed is 40 miles an hour on an open highway.

AROUND CITY HALL

How many cities the size of New Castle in Pennsylvania are equipped as well as this city to give police service is a question often asked. It may be there are only a few. The local department, which has a quota of less than 50 police, is equipped with a Gamewell alarm system, radio broadcasting system, cruiser cars for scout duty, fingerprint and photograph bureaus.

These were installed during the administration of Charles B. Mayne as mayor and John P. Haven as chief of police. When Charles E. McGrath took over the reins of government he continued the operation of every one of these instruments for better service and in an effort to aid traffic the present administration erected new lights and has decided to install parking meters.

The present chief of police is Ralph A. Criswell, who succeeded Haven several months after McGrath assumed office. Willis G. McMullen, who was the fingerprint officer, was succeeded by Ray Showalter, who previously had been a motorcycle and plainclothes officer.

According to some of the older men in the department it was only about 25 years ago that horse-drawn vehicles were used to cart prisoners to the police station. Before the horse and wagon days some of the officers used a wheelbarrow, pushcart or any other vehicle they could propel to haul prisoners to the city jail.

The lines of communication were not as they are today. Neither were policing conditions the same as today. Foot patrolmen were depended upon. Nowadays foot patrolmen mostly are confined to traffic and the residential districts. With police headquarters armed with a radio most telephone requests for service are sent there then radioed to cruiser cars.

Each cruiser car is so equipped that it can withstand bullets. Each car has a hole through which the nozzle of a machine gun can be thrust in case of combat. The department also had various kinds of gas weapons, high powered rifles and shotguns. In the old days machine guns, rifles, shotguns and gas weapons were lacking, likewise automobiles.

Ralph A. Criswell as chief of police heads one "turn" of eight hours. George Kennedy as lieutenant is in charge of another "turn" of eight hours. Likewise Lieutenant Cecil Suber, John E. Fournier, Ramsey, of Milburn, was a special guest. At noon, a tureen dinner was served by the hostess and aides, Mrs. Paul Osborne, and Mrs. Ralph Ramsey.

Mrs. Robert Hazlett, invited the club to their home on Thursday, July 22, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

COUNTY REGISTRATION

Editor News:
Dear Sir:

I am glad that The News is calling the attention of the voters to the necessity of registering if they expect to vote. I hope that every rural voter read the editorial in The News on July 1. This is a new law for the townships and many are failing to realize what it means. In my trips over the state I find that it is being overlooked and no doubt will do the thing that many think it was intended to do that is to discredit the rural vote, thus giving Gang ruled Philadelphia the control of our state as never before. We have looked to the smaller cities and rural people for the balance wheel in our political world but without the rural vote the smaller citizens will not be sufficient to combat the gang.

We will be celebrating our American Independence on Monday, but we owe a greater duty to our country on Tuesday to register. No doubt many spirited contests will be in progress this season and all will want to vote and should do so but remember that in order to vote you must be registered. There are only two days when you can register at your voting places July 6 and August 10. Every civic organization, every fraternal organization, yes, and every church should see that their members and all citizens are registered both men and women.

Respectfully,
J. A. BOAK.

July 3.

Our program next Tuesday will be a talkie film, giving us a story of the operations of the Bell Telephone system. The picture is being presented by John C. Mott of this city.

This presentation will be interesting to everyone.

King Lion Boyd will announce his committees at this meeting.

Six Teams In Lawrence Loop

South Hills, West Side Tigers And Red Sox Join Circuit

MAY TAKE IN TWO MORE TEAMS

Lawrence County Baseball League which during the first half consisted of four teams, will get away on their second leg of the season Wednesday with six teams and possibly eight, according to officials of the loop.

At a meeting held last night at the Sports Goods Store, it was decided to open up the circuit to South Hills, the West Side Tigers and the Red Sox. The latter team took the place of New Wilmington.

Wampum early this morning made a bid to enter the loop and it was announced by Vice President William G. Andrews, that if another team could be secured today, tonight or over the week-end, they would be accepted.

It was decided that James Martin, secretary of the circuit, should prepare a schedule for the second half. This will be completed some time today and all of the teams will be busy with twilight clashes Wednesday.

Drawing Good Crowds
While there were only four teams in the circuit during the first half all of the managers and players enjoyed their experience with the Lawrence county circuit, the parent baseball body of the county.

Bessemer captured the championship of the first half. New Wilmington fell out of the loop, but Hillsville, Bessemer and Capitola remained, hence it was decided to admit the other three clubs.

The Red Sox, according to reports, has been going big guns in independent circuits, and the South Hills also boasts a classy team. The West Side Tigers always have had a fast team.

Every team in the circuit is uniformed. Their managers, and coaches are said to be capable for the positions and it is believed that the loop will continue to draw big crowds and keep the standard of play as in former years.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Reports reaching here from Cleveland state that Jimmie Dunn and Eddie Simms, manager and heavy-weight, respectively, will depart Sunday for California where Dunn has matched Eddie for five fights. Simms has been on the inactive list since Joe Louis blasted him unconscious in 26 seconds at Cleveland some months ago. Dunn some weeks ago said that Simms could have had many fights but he deemed a rest would do his heavy-weight good. It was in California that Dunn saw one of his fighters, Johnny Kilbane, win the feather-weight championship from Abe Attel. Kilbane turned the trick on Washington's birthday in 1912. The fight went 20 rounds at Los Angeles.

An All-Louisiana State university final will wind up the 39th national intercollegiate golf championship at the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, today and for the fifth time in the annals of the college classic the south will boast the individual title. ROOSEVELT RACEWAY, Westbury, N. Y., July 3.—Rivalry flamed high between American and European drivers today as an estimated 75,000 spectators arrived here to witness the Vanderbilt cup auto race.

Bitter animosity between the American and European contestants was evident as the zero hour for the race approached, with the local talent obviously ruffled by the easy confidence of the invading drivers.

Rosemeyer Favored
Betting for the classic grid centered around Bernd Rosemeyer, German master of the 16-cylinder auto union, and 8-5 favorite to win. TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

NEW YORK, July 3.—An innocent visitor from Australia came to town, gives his name as Al Blatch, and announces he's lightweight champion of the Antipodes. . . . so what do they do to him? . . . they just give him a ringful of Henry Armstrong on the night of July 8 . . . which is hardly a nice way to treat an unsuspecting guest like Al.

Consider the racing fortunes of J. Shirley Riley, horseman who claimed the boss Par in a recent race at Aqueduct for $7,000 . . . Par broke down in the race and it was necessary to destroy the runner.

Brooklyn is aggravated to no end at Bill Terry because Heinie Manush wasn't chosen on the all-star team . . . Heinie has been clouting and fielding like the dickens.

The most improved hitter in the majors this year is George Selkirk, but he didn't make the all-star team, either . . . George has quit trying to guess what pitchers are going to throw and keeps his eye on the ball.

Rudolf Caracola's bride is a Hartford, Conn., girl the speed demon met in Switzerland. The best name among the collegiate golfers who held their annual struggle at Oakmont, is Stanley Holditch, of Georgia Tech.

Carl Hubbell says he got the "yips" so bad during his recent slump that he was walking into closed doors.

Don't take too seriously the fact that the International Boxing Union has named Max Schmeling world's heavyweight champion . . . (the union is the same organization)

Games Sunday In City Loop

Four Games Sunday In League, No Games Scheduled For Monday

There will be four games Sunday, July 4, in the city league, but there will not be any games on Monday. It was announced today by the office of the president. The Sunday games will start at 3 o'clock (weather permitting).

Mahoning A. A. will battle the league leading West Pittsburg team at the West Pittsburg field, and according to Manager Mike Orlando, the Seventh Warders are going to upset the league toppers. Orlando will probably pitch Rainey, his ace, or Russo. Manager DeGenova will more than likely start "Dutch" Hill on the rubber.

Sixth Ward Finemen will be down at the Cedar street field to meet the Lawrence Indies. Managers Gail and Ziegler will probably start Fred Ferrell or Carey against the Indies, with the "Red Caps" calling on either Balla or Masajada.

K. Pulaski will hustle off to Ryantown to meet the Colored Elks, with Koler probably the starting pitcher for the Oaklanders, and Rankin or Sammy Gray for the Elks.

Ryantown will be down on the Rosa field to meet the South Side Board of Trade team with Rodenbaugh the likely selection to face his former mates, and with Manager Fruitt calling on Lam or Gunnnett to halt the Ryantownians.

SHENANGOES WIN
Shenangoes softball team, leader of the Junior Softball league, fattened its lead as a result of a forfeit over the A. Z. A. team. Manager Nick Cagnetti requests the manager of the Reliabilities to call him today. Manager Davey Glasco is asked to call 4049-R and ask for Al Cozza.

What About Whitney?
"How could Terry overlook Whitney, who is hitting around 360 and playing the finest third base of his career?" Wilson asked. "And how could he pick Rick Collins, of the Cubs over Dolph Camilli of my club, who is going like a house afire?"

"But what makes us particularly sore is that we remember Whitney played a large part in helping the National Leaguers win last year's game."

"And where does Terry get off picking Mel Ott of his own club? Ott is hardly hitting his weight. In fact, I notice he has picked six of his own giants. If he wanted to show favoritism, why didn't he pick all the Giants and ignore everybody else?"

U. S. Is Favored In Cup Matches

With Donald Budge, Gene Mako And Others, Americans Should Win Coveted Cup

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 3.—For ten years, we have been wondering when, if ever, we would win back the Davis Cup for the honor and glory of American lawn tennis, not to entirely overlook the gate receipts. And, overnight, we've got our answer. It's in. We can't miss. It was practically all arranged at Wimbledon yesterday when Donald J. Budge, the American, beat the blond Baron of Germany, Gottfried Von Cramm, in straight sets for the world's singles championship.

World's Championship
That paid off. Every Davis Cup champion of the last twenty-five years has had the world's singles champion—and when it lost him, it lost the cup.

Moreover, Budge and Gene Mako staked the German combination, Von Cramm and Henner Henkel, to the first two sets in the semi-finals of the doubles and then knocked off the next three for the match, a very significant development. Significant? It's downright conclusive.

We play these same Germans on the same courts in the inter-zone finals of the Davis Cup series. And what we did yesterday, we must do again. Henkel and Von Cramm, notably the latter, are great men on en-tout-cas and the continental courts in general. But on the more exacting surface on Wimbledon's 400-year-old turf, they are something less than extraordinary.

Should Win Cup
Of course, after Germany, will come England and the challenge round. But England has only Bunny Austin and, while the young man is still nobody's sap, the fact is that he lost to Von Cramm in the semi-finals and Budge beat the blond Baron yesterday, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Of course, too, I would call your attention to the fact that Germany has yet to beat Czechoslovakia in the European zone finals but, being just an old fashioned attention-caller, there is the further fact that Hughes and Tuckey, the British doubles team, beat Menzel and Hecht, the Czechs, in straight sets yesterday.

All told, it is difficult to see how we can go wrong. Australia didn't when it had Brookes and Wilding. America didn't as long as Tilden was Tilden. France didn't and couldn't with Cochet, nor did England as long as it had Perry.

They were tennis' top hands of the past. Budge has the authority now—and it ought to be enough.

Mount Vernon Is Visited By Jamboree Scouts

Arena Shows Feature Evening Hours Of Boy Scout Washington Encampment

By ROGER H. HAWK
(Special News Correspondent with Jamboree Troop)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—All of the boys in the local troop attended the huge arena show last night and enjoyed the beautiful and interesting display of scoutcraft. Following the display the locals had an opportunity to visit with the Scouts from foreign lands.

Friday morning the troop arose one hour early to take a trip to Mount Vernon. The journey was made by the boat, "The City of Washington." The boat remained in Mount Vernon for a short time and started back to camp in order to arrive in time for dinner.

The Hawk patrol remained at camp to make repairs on their tents. The Wolverine patrol was on duty today, and they also remained in camp in the evening. Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Stump were our guests for dinner Friday evening.

Our group will go on a sightseeing trip tonight and see other important and interesting places in and about Washington. Ralph Davis, Lawrence county Scout commissioner, wife and daughter Leah, were guests for dinner Thursday evening.

Friday evening the Scouts attended another arena show. The boys were given their freedom all Friday afternoon and could do as they wished. Some of the places that have been visited include: the Smithsonian Institute, the Washington monument, the Lincoln memorial and many government buildings.

Many visits to the foreign Scouts encampment have been made by the New Castle troop, and many interesting articles and photographs of boys from far-away lands are secured. Everyone in our camp is in good health and spirits, in spite of the fact that it has rained every night since our encampment in the Capital city.

Disabled Vets Meet Monday Eve

Legislative Situation Is Discussed By National Representative Dodd

New Castle Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, met Friday evening in the city building, where they completed their organization. They were addressed by National Representative William J. Dodd, of Cincinnati, O., who discussed the seriousness of the legislative situation.

Dr. William J. Jackson, of Pittsburgh, spoke on what an honest, active chapter can do for the disabled man.

Because of the bad weather last evening, it was decided to keep the chapter open so that all disabled men can have an opportunity to join as charter members, and the date of August 11, was set as the closing date for the charter.

The temporary officers are: Commander Frank Frye; Senior vice commander, Robert Cagle; Junior vice commander, Dave Jones; Adjutant, Dorsey J. McKee; treasurer, James G. Cooper; Chaplain, Lorenzo De Paolis; Officer of Day, J. J. Puno; sergeant at arms, Joseph Gagliardo; chairman of trustees, Monroe Kinnaman.

First Visitors' Day Brings Large Crowd To Y Camp

Parents And Friends Visit Camp East Brook Girls On Friday

Camp East Brook was hardly large enough to accommodate the huge crowd of parents and friends who called to visit the young campers on Friday afternoon and evening, the first visitors' day.

Because of the rain the throng was invited inside and an entertainment was given in their honor. In four different groups the girls danced the Virginia Reel, and then, in three groups, Pop Goes the Weasel.

This afternoon the 59 girls will go on a hike, with a dip in the beautiful cement swimming pool as the climax, then supper, singing and games. Tomorrow Sunday school will be conducted in camp. Those who wish to attend church at New Castle will be brought here by automobile.

The law specifies that the meetings occur on the first Monday of July.

After the audits are completed, they shall be turned into the County superintendent's office. County superintendent Syling stated today.

Some boards are still behind on reports that were due prior to this time. Transportation and high school tuition reports were due July 1, and the budget reports were due June 15. Some districts have not as yet made these reports, County Superintendent Syling states.

All Star Team Of Legion Loop To Play Monday

Meet New Castle In Legion Elimination Series At Ewing Park

MANAGERS SELECT FIFTEEN PLAYERS

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—An All Star team of the local American Legion baseball league will represent Ellwood City in the national elimination series for the championship, it was announced this morning by Playground Director Denny Schill.

Due to the early start of the district playoffs it was feared that Ellwood City would not be represented as only the first half of their schedule has been completed to date. But some late information yesterday was that has been accomplished by the school. The program included songs, school slogan, salute to the American and Christian flags and much Bible and catechetical memory work. The program was under the supervision of Mrs. R. E. Bell, assisted by the various teachers of the primary and junior departments.

Miss Gladys Eichholtz of the junior group and Arthur Morrison of the primary group were presented with Bibles as rewards for bringing the most new pupils. Ninety-four of the pupils were presented with awards for perfect and near perfect attendance records. The average daily attendance was 97 pupils.

Sixth Birthday Marked Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—Mrs. W. A. Miller delightfully entertained 31 little girls yesterday afternoon at her home in honor of the sixth birthday of her daughter, Joan.

Games, contests, singing and tap dancing were the diversions of the day. At 4 o'clock all were invited into the dining room and seated at one large table. A pink and blue color scheme was used. Two large birthday cakes adorned the center of the table. The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts at this time.

At the close of the day the honor

EAT AND CHATTER CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—Members of the Eat and Chatter club were entertained in a hospitable manner on Friday afternoon when Mrs. Fred Swick, of North Sewickley township, was hostess to the group at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Druschel of the Ellwood-Zellenople road.

At 1 o'clock the group was served a delicious picnic luncheon at tables prettily arranged in the orchard of the Druschel home. The afternoon was spent with sewing and "chatter" as the diversions.

Mrs. Samuel Paulson will entertain the group for the next meeting with picnic dinner at Ewing Park.
